CONSTITUTION

Open Student Society Meeting Mon.

Voting On Proposed Changes To Be Held On Tuesday

Students council went into action again Monday night to set up a referendum covering several major issues that have been debated around campus for some time past. The first question deals with the mechanics of our student government, suggesting changes in the "who" and "how" of our elections. The Presidents of the Societies formed by each of our four schools would represent that school or faculty on Students Council. This would necessitate a change in the constitution of the Home Ec Club so that its President might represent the whole school. There is the advantage in the proposed argument, that the Freshmen would have some months experience and observation on which to base their judgements when time came for elections in the spring.

The second education councillor would be introduced, not so much as a strengthening link in the chain of Council efficiency, as in an attempt to get fairer "Rep by Rep" for more.

As Macdonald assumes more responsibilities in the University community of our region, we need someone to represent our college at outside functions. This would be the duty of the second vice-president, whose office might be considered to replace that of secretary.

Another aspect of the con-

By Helen Forsey

stitution question concerns the abolition of the Student Activities Committee as obsolete. Less pretentious provisions would be made for doing its jobs.

The second major proposal is to accept only unconditioned students (look up the definition in the Red Book) as council members and activities chairmen. The advantages in terms of continuity, efficiency and perhaps incentive, to be gained by thus ensuring these people will stay with us are to be weighed against the possible cost in willing workers.

Thirdly, we will be asked if we want our yearbook to come to us automatically and pay for it in our student activity fees.

These issues concern all of us, commuters and residents alike. Council has formulated Monday afternoon other points may be raised. The three decisions rest with the student body's vote on Tuesday.

College Spirit Given One Hundred Dollar Boost

Here's a boost to school spirit at Mac - a hundred dollar boost, that has been given by an anonymous donor. The College Music Department in Co-operation with the Lit and Deb Society announced that a college Song Writing Competition will be sponsored by them. All students are invited to enter the competition to write a Macdonald College song, so here is a chance for all composers and would-be composers to earn fame and fortune. If fame doesn't appeal to you I'm sure the fortune will, namely one hundred dollars for the best song. It should be a distinctive, spirited song that Mac students can be proud to sing as their song. The winning composition will be selected by a panel of judges for its musical and literary merit as well as its spirit. We need a good college song to bolster our college spirit so anyone with any ideas please get to work, for complaining about Mac's lack of spirit accomplishes nothing. This is a constructive step in improving our spirit and deserves support, after all you don't have to be a musical genius to write a winning song (but it helps). All entries must be submitted to Macdonald College, Music Dept., Box 17, Macdonald College, P.Q. by March 15, 1965.

Meet twenty-one year old Clive Edwards, the second year Agricultural student whose name appears on the Dean's Honour role. This year Clive was awarded a three year scholarship by the Sugar Manufacturer's Association of Jamaica.

Last Saturday evening Clive gave a tremendous performance in his role as the young man in Saroyan's, "Hello Out There", at the C.U.D.L. Festival. He has been acclaimed by Mr. Eugene Jousse, the adjudicator of the festival, for this, his first attempt at acting. Mr. Jousse is a man who has had wide experience in all facets in the theatre, and in particular, students. Back stage, after the performance he congratulated Clive (a lanky Jamaican) for his perfect use of the stage and his ballet-like movements, which with his convincing acting he helped to maintain sustained power for his entire forty minutes on stage. Being a very modest aspiring actor, Clive has insisted that these qualities are all a reflection of the experienced direction of John Whitman, a 1G student who has given his heart and soul to the drama.

Although Mr. Jousse acclaimed Clive's acting ability, he stressed that it was his personal opinion that Saroyan did not intend to have a Negro play the part of the Young Man falling in love with the white, innocent cook. On this topic, Don Bell of the Montreal Gazette is in complete opposition.

I disagree with the remarks by the adjudicator, Eugene Jousse, that a Negro (Clive Edwards is a Jamaican) should not play the role of the vagabond. The play was no less authentic and one wonders if it wasn't Saroyan's intention for the young man to be a Negro. The dialogue in which the young man says his nickname is "Photo Finish" because he always came in second in a photo finish "race" bears out this theory.

Hello, Out There, I say to all you students who will soon be given the chance to further your own opinion. The play will be presented here at Mac in the very near future.

Country Comes First

Canada has a new flag; a flag that must unite a country which almost came apart at the seams before the flag itself could be passed by parliament. The flag has been called a rag, symbol of modern art, and "Pearson's flag." I feel that the latter of these descriptions is quite apt, because without Mr. Pearson's strong push, and his strength when the issue came up, Canada would not have a new flag. Now while I cannot endorse Mr. Pearson as a Prime Minister, because I do not think he is a good one, I must say that I admire him for having guts enough to push the flag to a reality. Never in 100 years has Canada had a prime minister who was courageous enough to do this, but as I mentioned before, there have been strong rifts in Canada's unity because of the flag issue, and I think that one of these rifts has occurred between the old and the younger generations. This is especially evident in the veterans who have returned from the wars, and have fought under the Red Ensign.

Now in St. Annes, where one of the biggest Veteran's Hospitals in Canada is located, it is just a matter of time until one meets with some of this friction. I have had the experience of an argument with one of these veterans at a local tavern (when we were both quite sober), and during the course of the argument I feel I gave a number of good reasons why we, the younger generation, look upon the new flag as a step in the right direction, and in fact, why we like the new flag. Now I won't try to reproduce a one hour argument here, but I feel that there was one point brought up that I can deal with here.

The best reason that this old fellow could put forward was the fact that so many men had died under the Red Ensign, and since he himself had fought under this flag, had been wounded six times and lost two brothers and a sister under this flag, he would die under no other. On this point I based my argument. I asked him if he was proud to have had this happen to him, and when he wasn't sure, I told him he damn well should be, and then I proceeded to tell him what he had fought for. He fought for a country, and a principle; Canada and Democracy. In winning he assured Canada of a government which would not dictate, and a freedom for the people to do as they wished - in fact they fought so that new Canadians would have the privilege to change the design of their national flag if they so wished. He did not fight for a flag! He fought for a country. He fought under a flag, the same as I would fight tomorrow if the need arose, but I would not be fighting for the flag, I would be fighting for a country and freedom. The flag could have a red maple leaf, a green maple leaf or a yellow stripe, but I would still fight just as hard, because I believe what I believe, and I believe in freedom for myself and my children.

The new flag has been unfurled, and it is possible that it may unite the country into a closer knit unity. We all hope it does, even the old veteran. But people should think about the country first, the flag is surely secondary. That is why I, a conservative at heart, and a proud British subject like the new flag, it is a sign of distinction for a distinct country which I want to see grow and prosper both economically and politically. Believe it or not, I think I gained a lot of respect for this newer generation from that staunch old veteran; in fact, the way he accepted that beer I bought him, I'm almost sure of it.

Once again we are sponsoring a cartoon contest. The cartoons should be of campus life, depicting either humorous or controversial subjects on the campus. There will be a $5.00 prize for 1st place, $2.50 for second and $1.00 for third. All cartoons used in the paper will bring the originator 25¢. Final date for receipt of cartoons is March 10th. Lab Problem

Last week I wrote that science Professors at Macdonald had a problem: to reduce the well-established pattern of cheating on lab exercises.

To expand the problem, I wish to point out how impossible it is for students to combat the tendency to crib lab problems and diagrams. (1) If we do not copy the drawings of those who have gone before, our marks will not be as good as those who do. Cribbing pays at Mac. (2) If we do not copy the work of others, we are out of the "group". (3) We are competing, in many courses, with Post Graduate students who are specializing in one subject area and who have the time available to complete a first rate job. (4) For years now, Senior students have been handing completed labs. to the Juniors and so on down the line. This pattern is so well established that it was even done in my Father's time. (5) The Professors insist on such a high level of work that either there is too much or else it is too difficult to complete in the time available.

The chances of the Professors solving the problem are extremely slim, but nobody else can do anything. We, the students, have evolved a scheme of beating the system. We want an easy way through to our degrees. How about an improved University course?

We should accept changes in lab work with the realization that it is for our own good that we do the work. However, Professors must realize that it pays to cheat, so that it will continue until it is stopped by them.

To answer the infants who are complaining the most bitterly about my letter last week, I can only quote, "He doth protest too much".

Perhaps the caption should read: IT PAYS TO CHEAT.

Caine Mutiny

Dear Sir:

On February 12, about fifteen members of the second year Household Science class received letters from the Director of the School of Household Science stating that recently we had been reported missing from lectures in Foods and in Nutrition, i.e. we had missed one Foods and one Nutrition lecture this term. We were required to send to her the reason, in writing, why we were remaining away from classes. However, it states in the syllabus that we are allowed to miss 1/8 of the lectures in any course.

Anyone who has read "The Caine Mutiny" will see the resemblance between this request and those that Queeg, the Captain, required of his officers. Are we in an institution that is run along the same lines as a navy in wartime? The method Queeg used to run his ship lead to a mutiny. Are we at a kindergarten, a naval academy or a college?

"A Mutineer"

Library Floor

Dear Sir:

Since we started to attend this college, the library has shown its inefficiency, this past Tuesday and Wednesday being no exception. It seems that whenever there is an assembly, the library is closed, presumably to ensure attendance. For this to occur at the college level is ridiculous.

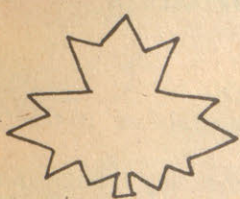

Why must the floor of the library be polished at 8:30 A.M.? This could just as easily be done before the library opens. As soon as one starts to work, this little machine starts to buzz around.

Books are constantly missing from the library. Was the guard at the door kept after the holidays? No. And why not?

Between six and seven o'clock in the evening, a student is kept at the control-desk. However, the library staff does not credit him with enough brains to stamp out a book.

The sooner this library is run as a college library should be, the sooner the students will be better off.

Strike Over

THE VARSITY, U of Toronto -- The strike at Ryerson is over as the council resumed its activities. Given a vote of confidence by the students, the president formed a new constitution in which there was a clause giving the council disciplinary powers where the reputation of the University is at stake.

The council appealed to the administration for a permanent disciplinary board of students, but the administration still stubbornly insisted that it had no authority to delegate disciplinary powers to a student body.

Grave Snatcher

THE CARLETON, Carleton, U -- The curse of the mummy has fallen on students of Ottawa University.

He also said he has refused to honor student cards from the University and from its LONDON (CUP) -- Forty per cent of the male students and 54 per cent of the female students at the University of Western Ontario have felt some need for counselling on emotional or psychological problems since entering the university, a campus mental health survey showed.

Social and interpersonal difficulties emerged as the most serious problems among students. Other major problems are caused by academic worries, lack of self-confidence and relations with the opposite sex.

Indian Bursary

Toronto (CUP) -- The students council at Ryerson Polytechnical Institute voted to set up a fund (The I McGroaby SAC Bursary) for Canadian Indians. This fund will be financed by a 50¢ increase in student fees in each of the next three years.

The purpose of the fund is to finance one unregistered Indian student per year until three have been enrolled. The bursary will provide for two semesters at a total of $1500 for the first year. The two subsequent years, it will be $1000, and the student will be required to earn the other $500 during the summer.

Tuition Hike Encouraged

ONTARIO, Guelph -- The University of Toronto Student's Administration council said that university tuition fees should be raised 150%.

They also said that the increase should be incorporated with a $1,500 grant-per student, per year - from the government, a guaranteed summer student work program, and a government sponsored domestic peace corps.

This brief is in direct contrast to student demands of fee elimination.

Extra Cash

VANCOUVER (CUP) Some members of the staff of the University of British Columbia have found a way to augment their salaries. They are reported selling their parking stickers to students who want to avoid long walks and have the money to pay for them.

No Room At Inn

THE CAMPUS, Bishop's U -- It is probable that the practice of providing dining facilities for out-of-residence students will be discontinued at the end of this term.

Although the arguments for this move are probably sound financially in that the university loses money on such a service and cannot afford to build the facilities necessary to feed all the students, the situation which will confront the students involved warrants examination.

Council To Open Campus Shop

The Campus Shop Committee set up by Student Council is to be heartily congratulated. Instead of its eventual fading into obscurity as with most investigation committees it has succeeded in drawing up a set of recommendations which have actually been accepted and passed by the Student's Council at last Monday's meeting and have been approved by administration.

Consequently a Campus Shop will be set up in the room off the Stewart Foyer.

It will be beneficial for the four reasons:

1. It would act as a lever for more rapid action on the part of administration with regard to the establishment of a Student Union Building.

2. It would serve as an experiment for the elimination of the initial problems which would be encountered when a college is set up in the Student Union Building.

3. It would be a more efficient means of selling college accessories and would also serve as an added convenience for the students.

4. It would help improve college spirit.

The following recommendations were put forth and accepted by Council:

1. That the room of the foyer in Stewart Hall be obtained for the selling of the following articles:

- | | |
|--------------------|---------------------|
| 1. College jackets | 5. Stationery |
| 2. Sweaters | 6. Jewellery |
| 3. Scarves | 7. Sports equipment |
| 4. Touques | |

2. That the stock now owned by the bookshop is purchased by the Student's Council with the intention that these goods be sold by the college shop and the bookshop at the same prices so that the sale of the previously mentioned articles supplement rather than compete with sales by the bookshop.

3. That the campus shop be open during those hours which would prove most convenient for students.

4. That the campus shop be run by a manager directly responsible to the chairman of the Purchasing Committee and that the manager be paid by Students Council in order that he might be held responsible for his job. The manager would have two assistants from the second year (male or female) with the intention that one of these persons would assume the office of manager the following September.

5. That an initial investment of $1500 be allocated by the finance committee for the establishment of stock.

6. That the campus shop operate at cost plus operating expenses so as to provide the students with an efficient, convenient and economical place to purchase college apparel.

As mentioned above, the job of manager of the new campus shop is paid by council at a rate fitting the duties which will be performed by this person. Applications for this position will now be accepted.

Please address applications or inquiries to Box 100, Britain Hall.

It is up to YOU as an individual to make it a success.

Student Salary

Bishop Reed backs Berton in discourse on Pew views

by PETER ALLNUTT

Rev. E. S. Reed, the Anglican Bishop of Ottawa, upheld most of Pierre Berton's criticism of Church leadership as expressed in the latter's book "The Comfortable Pew."

Rev. Reed said of Berton, "his criticism is generally correct but it is not radical enough. It does not go to the roots of the problem."

The Bishop did not feel that Berton really understands the nature of the institution in question. He said that even though today's leaders may not be of the church, they are nevertheless products of the church. He also felt that Berton did not give enough attention to the ordinary church members.

Challenging the assumption that the church has always been a conservative body, Reed stated, "it was the life of Jesus Christ that caused the things we regard as essential to become essential." However, the church as an institution is both divine and human and is therefore in constant need of redemption.

The Bishop felt that the church will go through a period of decline and then one of renewal. There will be a renewal in the role of the church as an institution.

Rev. Reed favoured having priests detached from the parish system. Too much time is spent on administrative affairs by church leaders for them to perceive the position of the church in the world today.

Ferocious Failt - Ye Frustrations

Your Failt-Ye doesn't just appear on Fridays. It is born, created and molded from long hours, thankless jobs, and faithful staff. This is the story of those courageous and dauntless people who comprise the staff of the paper.

6.00 p.m. Arrive at Publications. All is quiet and the door is locked. Beginning of a patient wait. The typists come but the door is still locked. Finally the door is opened, but where is the copy to be typed. Where's Don (our faithful Editor-in-Chief)? Here he comes ...oops I mean there he goes. getaway. The work begins, and the office begins to resemble an office.

6.30 p.m. Chris and Rollie stroll in. The layout sheets are found along with the regular ads. "How much copy do we have?" "One page." Here comes Jane. Everyone starts reading the mail and work stops as they discuss the Beefs of the Week. Don walks in again and says "We're losing 2-0." Then he sits down for five minutes to edit the CUP column. "Where's Ruth?" "What have we got for the Petticoat Page?" The phone rings. "Have we any letters to the Editor?" The phone stops ringing.

7.00 p.m. Copy deadline. "Didn't anybody enter the Cartoon contest this week?" Where's Hugh. "Somebody discovers that no one wrote an editorial. Need a topic. Everyone stops work and starts to think. Don decides to go back to the hockey game to get inspiration.

7.30 p.m. Terry walks in, removes his jacket and rolls up his sleeves. Still no features in. How many pages they wonder. Don reports back. "It's a tie now." He suddenly remembers that he has done an editorial. It was on the back of a CUP newsletter, but what did he do with it. He dashes for the waste paper basket, and several minutes later comes up with the sheet clutched in his hand. Someone starts typing it.

8.00 p.m. Keith arrives. The game is over and it was still a tie. "Is the sports page copy all in?" Well something is ready anyway. Chriss and Terry arrive at a decision. Eight pages. Clarence comes in with a handful of pictures. If we only had another brewery ad so we could pay for more pictures. "Don, shall we run this picture on the..... Hey, Where's Don?" Guess he must be trying to hurry up that feature that someone upstairs is writing.

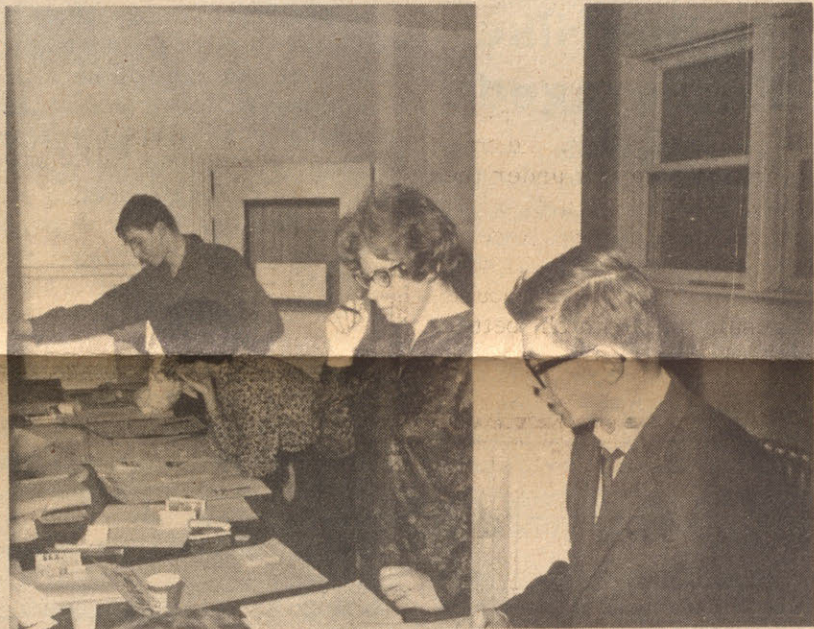

8.30 p.m. Someone walks in and asks if we could run a story on the broken coke machine in Brittain Hall. Well, actually NO. "Who won the Hockey game?" The telephone rings again. I answer it. Thus time it's Brad's girlfriend. "No, He's not here." Helen comes in with the Features copy.

started on the other seven pages. With luck it might be out by 1.00 tonight. Typists are leaving, but copy is still coming in. "Can anybody type?" Don is moaning about the absence of a 30 inch article promised by 7.30.

10.30 p.m. Clarence comes in from the darkroom with the still wet prints for the front page. "Got room on page 3 for this one?" Terry groans but makes room. Chris says that this isn't the Sunday pictorial. The cartoon arrives, but it's too big for the space they left for it, so ever patient Hugh proceeds to see what he can do about it.

11.00 p.m. Some curious people with nothing to do wander in then wander out. Keith leaves to do a lab for tomorrow Don remembers that he hasn't prepared it either, but he can't leave. Brad runs in with another editorial. Our head typist Jackie has the job of translating (that's the only word for it) his hieroglyphics. Terry and Jane have got to reset the Editorial Page.

mail box key?" Don is back with the news that there is an important ad in the mail. I waste half an hour trying to reach Laird Hall on the phone and finally give up and go over. The ad wasn't there. The managing editor is muttering at the members of the staff who don't set up their own pages. He is working frantically with Jane on the Editorial Page. No cartoon yet.

10.00 p.m. Layout is finally

11.30 p.m. Jackie puts on her coat and is gone. The layout pages are beginning to look like something. Chris remembers with a groan that the coffee shop closed half an hour ago.

11.45 p.m. Too close to curfew. Everyone seems to be leaving. The guys are still working.

12.00 p.m. Just Don, Chris, Ruth and Terry left. Paper all over the place, crumpled, typed, untyped. Mass confusion. Wish the handle of the broom hadn't been taken. Chris places the last head line. It's only 12.30. It was an easy paper this week. Now the problems are all over and the paper is ready for the printer to pick up tomorrow morning. Gee, now it's time to think about next weeks.

Financial Structure Of Clan MacDonald

The following is a proposal to change the financial structure of the Clan Macdonald. Under the present system, the students pay $3.50 for the yearbook, while the Student's Council pays an addition - a $1.25 to cover the present cost of publication (less advertising income) of $4.75 per book.

It has been proposed that the annual sale of yearbooks be abolished, and that the Students' Activity fee (paid at registration) be increased by $3.00. This sum would be turned over to the Clan to pay for the printing cost of the books. Under this system, each student would receive a yearbook, and thus the circulation would increase from 850 to 1700 books. The price of the books would drop to $3.90 each, because of mass production. The students, as proposed above, would pay $3.00 and the Students' Council would contribute $0.90 toward each book.

This new system would have many advantages, some of which are listed below;

- (1) The cost of printing the Clan would decrease 22%.
- (2) The Clan would still be available at a reasonable price. Students at most other universities pay more than $4.00 for their yearbooks.
- (3) This system, already adopted by numerous universities, (for example, Memorial University, of Nfld., N.S.A.C., U.N.B., U. of Manitoba and the U. of Saskatchewan) would relieve the Students' Council of some monetary assistance. Further price increases of printer's costs at an estimated 3 - 5% annually could be budgeted more easily by the Clan and the Students' Council.
- (4) The new system would increase the efficiency of the students working for the Clan. The Clan Representatives, whose work in the past has not been efficient, due in some cases to a lack of interest, would not be necessary.

- (5) The new system would also end the annual sales campaign which must be carried out one week before the first deadline (October). The relief from the sales campaign (making posters for publicity, etc.) would take much of the strain off the Clan staff and would give them more time which could be devoted to the book rather than to superfluous paperwork.
- (6) This system would greatly simplify the accounting of Clan monies (800 receipts less in the books). Also, a measure of security would be added to the treasury of the Students' Council. In case of very low sales, the unexpected deficit has, under the present system, to be paid by the Students' Council.
- (7) It is known that the first year students are less likely to buy a Clan than second year teachers

However, practically all of the freshmen would like to have a book if they realized how much it would mean to them. Possibly the second year students would be more active in student affairs if they read the yearbook during the summer.

(8) The final advantage is that the Clan staff would know, in advance, exactly how many books would be sold, and thus they, as they cannot under the present system, could budget accordingly. The new system, which would be more efficient than the present one, is bound to result in a much better yearbook.

Council Meeting

There was a meeting of the Students' Council on Monday, February 15, 1965.

Rick Holley, Chairman of the Purchasing Committee, brought photographs of new designs for men's and women's college rings. These new designs were adopted by Council.

The College Shop is going to be in the small room off the Stewart Foyer and three positions are open to members of the student body. These include a manager, who will be paid for his work, and two assistants. See Mr. Holley for further information.

Council read and discussed the new Students' Society Constitution at length. This shall be discussed again at the open meeting next Monday, February 23, 1965.

Only 22 Freshman students replied to the questionnaire in the Failt-Ye Times several weeks ago. It is therefore the feeling of Council and of the Postgraduates' Society that so little response does not merit tutorial classes on an organized basis. Students who did reply to the questionnaire will be contacted by letter and supplied with names of post-graduate students who would be willing to offer tutorial classes in the desired subjects, on a private basis.

Mr. Harricharran, President of the Men's Residence Committee, told Council that the Committee will continue to be responsible for the recreation room in Brittain Hall.

Following the meeting, Council members enjoyed a coffee party with Mrs. Cunningham, Warden of the Council House.

Council Passes Clan Proposal

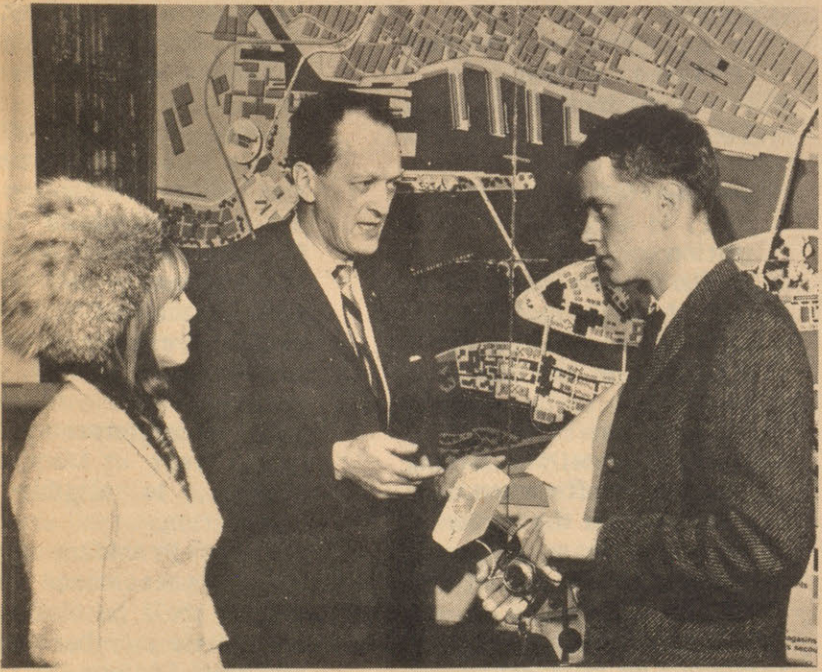

The Students' Council has passed the Clan Proposal to automatically provide the student with a Clan Macdonald. At present, each student pays a Student Activity Fee of $26.00 which is included in the tuition at registration. With the inclusion of the Clan, the fee would be raised by $3.00.

The A.U.S. has approved that each student in the Faculty of Agriculture pay a membership fee of $1.00; S.T.S. is currently contributing $1.00; and Council proposes that a similar method be carried out for the School of Household Science and the Post Graduate Society. This would mean that each student will pay an Activity Fee of $30.00 allocated as follows:-

- $11.00 to Athletics
- $ 3.00 to Clan
- $ 1.00 to the respective faculty societies
- $15.00 as at present, under the direct control of Students' Council.

You will have an opportunity to voice your opinion on these proposed additions to the Student Activity Fee on Tuesday.

President Rob Robso

This Tuesday coming, February 23, you will be asked to cast your vote on three major issues, in a referendum of the Students' Society. I would now like to outline these issues to you, including the Council action which has led up to these decisions, as well as the three questions which you will be asked.

1. REVISION OF THE CONSTITUTION

(a) The proposal to have the presidents of the Agricultural Undergraduates' Society, the Home Economics Club, the Postgraduate Students' Society and the Student Teachers' Society sit on Council in place of the four representatives who, at the present time, are elected each fall. Council feels that each respective Society would be strengthened and would receive positive representation if its chief executive member was also the voice on Council, for that respective Society. While each of us realizes that such people have a responsibility to the Students' Society in general, there is no doubt that the student members of that respective Society, and they alone, are in the most favorable position to honestly and accurately elect their representative. In addition, such a provision makes room for a student to act in the absence of the president, in Council, namely, the vice-president of each respective Organization or Society.

(b) A provision to include a second representative from the Institute of Education has been made on a representation by population basis. It is difficult for students in Education to attain positions on the Executive of the Council because of their short stay at Macdonald (two years) in relation to that of the students in Home Economics or in Agriculture. At the same time, the adoption of such a provision will enable students who are at Macdonald only one (1) year, to contest this position.

(c) The proposal to elect a second Vice-president in charge of External Affairs has arisen from the experience of all Council Members throughout the year. As the student population of Macdonald expands so do our commitments off campus lie with other universities, with Governments, and towards the general public. We have been called upon many times this year to send representatives to various meetings with other Colleges and Universities in Quebec, but because of the commitments of the executive members we have been unable to provide representation for Macdonald. This is not only a decided disadvantage, but also a shortcoming on our part which should be remedied as soon as possible.

(d) The elimination of Council's elected Secretary has been proposed as this year, with the efficiency of a Permamembers of the Students' Society.

5. Second Vice-President (External Affairs)

a) Any student, who, during his term of office, has been a member of the Students' Society for at least one year, is eligible for nomination.

b) The Second Vice-President of the Students' Council shall be elected by all members of the Students' Society.

6. Treasurer:

a) Any student, who, during his term of office has been a member of the Students' Society at least one year, is eligible for nomination.

b) The Treasurer of the Students' Council shall be elected by all members of the Students' Society.

7. Permanent Secretary-Treasurer:

a) The Permanent Secretary-Treasurer will be placed under legal contract to be approved by the Students' Council.

b) The contract is to be signed by the Permanent Secretary-Treasurer and the President of the Students' Council.

c) The contract must be resumed or rejected by each successive Students' Council.

8. President of Men's Residence Committee:

a) Any male member of the Students' Society, who, during his term of office shall be registered in the fourth year at Macdonald College, is eligible for nomination.

b) The President of the Men's Residence Committee shall be elected by all male members of the Students' Society.

9. President of the Women's Residence Committee:

a) Any female member of the Students' Society, who, during her term of office shall be registered in the fourth year at Macdonald College, is eligible for nomination.

b) The President of the Women's Residence Committee shall be elected by all female members of the Students' Society.

10. President of the Gold Key Society:

a) Any active member of the Gold Key Society shall be eligible for nomination. He shall be nominated in accordance with the constitution of the Gold Key Society.

b) The President of the Gold Key Society shall be elected by all members of the Students' Society.

11. President of the Agricultural Undergraduate Society:

a) Any member of the Students' Society registered in Agriculture shall be eligible for nomination.

b) The President of the

Explains Constitution

Permanent Employee, our Student Secretary has found herself in an unnecessary position having no work to do. The Student Secretary has not been able to keep up with the quantity of work that a permanent employee can accomplish and therefore finds herself behind with respect to what is taking place, through no fault of her own.

(e) Following meetings of the Student Affairs Committee, which began last fall, a recommendation to delete the Student Activity Committee as it now stands, was adopted by Council. Student Activity meetings in the old sense have accomplished nothing more than calendar correlations which can easily be handled by one student at the first of the year. Provision has been made to have all Chairmen of budgeted activities meet at the beginning of the fall term, similar to our conference at St. Hilaire last fall. The incoming and outgoing officers will meet together after the Spring elections, and between these times meetings, if they are called by the first Vice-President, will be centred on topics such as student participation, publicity, etc. Meetings may also be held at the request of an activity Chairman, if the occasion arises.

2. Question #2 will be asked over the hotly debated issue of whether or not students contesting positions on Students' Council or for the Chairmanship of Student Activities should be non-conditioned students during their term of office. Council has adopted this proposal and recommended it to a referendum on the grounds that our student activities would suffer less than they have in the past because several of their executive members are not here to hold office.

3. The final question asked will be whether or not the majority of students favor an automatic Clan Macdonald for each student at the College. If such a suggestion is passed, the Student Activity fee will then be raised. Arguments, pro and con, have been presented by the Editor of Clan Macdonald and the Treasurer of Students' Council, elsewhere in this paper.

May I close by reminding you that the Council sees each of these three questions as important ones. To pass a student referendum and be included in the Constitution of our Students' Society, each of these questions requires a 2/3 majority of at least 100 voting students. I would strongly suggest that only 100 student votes is little indication, and urge each of you to attend an open meeting of the Students' Society this Monday at 4:30 p.m. in the Assembly Hall, and then to cast your vote the following day.

Robert G. Robson,
President Students' Society

Agricultural Undergraduate Society shall be nominated and elected only by students who are members of that society.

12. President of the Home Economics Club:

13. President of the Post Graduate Society:

a) Any member of the Students' Society registered in the Faculty of Graduate Studies and Research and in residence at Macdonald College shall be eligible for nomination.

Dief Assaulted By Students

THE SHEAF, U of Saskatchewan -- In one of the most atrocious breaches of good taste ever to be recorded in the history of the University of Saskatchewan, Mr. John Diefenbaker, leader of the Conservative opposition and formerly prime minister of Canada from 1957 to 1963 was forcefully held and forced into a locker in the basement of Convocation Hall.

As yet, neither SRC President Wawruck nor university President Spinks have indicated what steps will be taken against the culprits when they are apprehended.

Mr. Diefenbaker himself has refrained from making any comment on the incident but, in the words of Sheaf Editor Henderson, it is "shocking, disgraceful, unbelievable".

The incident occurred in 1915 when Mr. Diefenbaker was enrolled as a student there.

Alois Chidoda Writes Of THE NATIVE OF

Following my article in the previous issue of the Failt-Ye Times on Rhodesia, I have sought to enlighten the students on the campus on how the African lives in his country of Rhodesia. It takes time and pages to follow the lives of Africans for there is so much to be written on that one would have to embark on writing a book. In the following article, we meet the African in his home and in town.

The Rural African

The real, traditional African, is found in the rural areas where his main occupation is land-tilling. In these respective areas, one finds about three quarters of the four million Africans. Some are farmers while others live in what is known as reserves. The difference between farms and reserves is that in reserves the houses are built in a line which stretches for miles. Each family is apportioned a few acres to plough, while the grazing areas are common to all the families in the line. This system of reserves is gradually disappearing as many families are moving to lands which have recently been opened to the Africans for ownership as farms. The African on his piece of either rich or sandy soil, is found growing maize (corn), ground nuts or rupoko (cereal from which beer is made), some rice and several other food crops. He also keeps a few cattle from which he gets his milk, meat and which he sells at market. It used to be that the number of cattle one had was a measure of one's prosperity. Even today any encroachment on African cattle by distocking arouses him to angry protestations and embitterment. Cattle are traditional riches.

The Parents

One interesting factor in an African family is the relationship between the parents and their children. It is common in Canada that as soon as a boy or girl reaches the age of 21 one can decide what he or she would like to do outside the parents' hegemony. This is very uncommon in African communities. A girl of 21 in Canada can be found living in her own apartment which may be just two streets away from her parents. In an African community, the parents may have from 4 to 7 children. If the first borne marries - that is if it is a boy - he can either stay with his parents or build his own separate home. Even if there are 5 boys, they themselves, their wives and children can stay in one home with the boys' parents, eating from one granary. This contributes to the vast growth and establishment of tribal clans. Hence the fact that the African is gregarious. This may sound bizarre and implausible to many who have not had the chance to meet Africans in their homes, but to the African life becomes a pleasure in large families. Where do they get all the food to feed twenty or so people? Well the African has his own easy way of solving such apparently insoluble problems. He grows most of his own food on the piece of land he owns!

The parents are responsible for character training. The discipline measures are quite stringent. The father isn't an easily approachable man, while the mother is quite easy going, patient and genial. She intercedes for a child who wants some favour done to him by his father. The person to be approached is his mother, who then carries the request to the father.

The Urban

These are the people who think of riches mainly in terms of money, cars, buses and business enterprises. They to an extent, look down on the rural African as one who still dwells in "Dark Africa". He is quite a sophisticated type. Here you find an educated African who has moved to town to work, buy himself a car, a house and suits. The tell him to go to the rural, even if he is out of work, is to exasperate him. "How can I?" he asks you proudly and cynically. During the weekend he is out for film shows, night clubbing, swimming and drinking in the beer-gardens. To him the world is composed of happiness and pleasure. He is in the lime-light of sports, watching television and all the other types of events that are in the realm of modern civilization. Shona and Tebele are rarely used by the adolescent boys and girls; English, which has been gathered during the week at school or over radio, becomes the only language to use in order to be able to exchange secrets and chuck in love injunctions.

It is from the town, too, that the African politician crops up, for it is there that the population is concentrated. On Saturdays after lunch the soccer fields in the towns are filled to capacity by crowds of supporters who come to attend the meetings.

As the political personage mounts the platform, the audience claps ululates and cheers. After a few minutes all the people settle down to order and harken to the speaker as he wrecks colonization, imperialism and neocolonialism, and suppression.

Mother means all to the African. There is some bias against the father. If he exchanges bad words with mother, all the children go sorrowing whereas if mother starts scolding father, there is little consent. In the event of divorce which is one of the rarest incidences in an African community - all the children tend to fall in with the mother and so take up any advice given to them by her and not by the father.

George Shaw (the Ancient), a strong silent-type Royal secretary, hails from Kinburn, Ontario. George spent an active time in high school where he participated in interclass sports and public speaking. He was also class Valedictorian and received the national 4-H Week Award. In 1962, George packed his bags for Mac where he made his presence known in interclass

2. BOB HAMILTON

Bob Hamilton ("cigar box") is our very efficient Director of Publications. He has always been interested in publications here at Mac where he was Class rep to the Clan, Director of Publicity for Student Activities, 1963-4 and Director of Publications for the Royal, 1964-5. Bob is a junior Aggie in animal science, and would like to make a career in nuclear science. Before coming to Mac, he worked for the Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd. We enjoyed working with Bob except for certain individuals who choked over his cigar fumes.

As a matter of fact, he was so keen about the antiques that he decided to head the display. In closing we would like to add, that as George hails from Ottawa Valley, it happens to be the best spot on earth!

4. THORTON NEWCOMBE (below)

This year's booths are under the hands of Thorton Newcombe (T2), as he is known around these quarters. Thorton does not wish to elaborate on his part and supplied a few concise facts. He was an active member in interclass sports and House Committee at N.S.A.C. T2 is in his fourth Thorton's home is simply "The Valley" with no specific detail. With such a clear and uncomplicated heritage, we would like to add that he is a great fellow and a lot of fun. His parting comment is "a blush is beautiful, but sometimes misleading".

Royalty Chosen

The following girls were chosen at the Royal Tea last Saturday afternoon, Jane Watson, Home Ec IV; Sharon Gardner, Home Ec III; and Heather Calhoun, 2S. The girls were selected by the professors and were chosen on their interest in the Royal, Campus activities, appearance and personality. The tea was organized by Jane Hall and the Home Ec Club. Among the professors present were Dr. and Mrs. Dion.

A good time was had by all and we extend our best wishes to the three finalists and also the other contestants.

The pictures are of the new Macdonald College rings. It was felt by many that the former ring was not a suitable one - at least this was indicated by the number of rings and other jewelry sold over the past year.

Students' Council has unanimously approved the designs as drawn up by Gaila Industries of Montreal.

The boy's ring, it was felt, was rather unsuitable for girls so an alternative was proposed. It consists of a band with the same crest on it as has the boy's ring. It might be appropriate to note here that the men's and women's rings may be suitable for either sex depending of course upon individual tastes. Rings for the graduating class should be available before exams begin in the spring.

Class pins, and other College jewelry, embodying the new design should also be available at that time.

Drama Club's "Hello Out There"

by Steve Lewis

On Saturday 13, February, the Macdonald Drama Club presented William Saroyan's "Hello out There" in the Canadian University Drama League's festival of one-act plays, held at Loyola College. The play was very well received. It completely captivated the audience and was the only one of fourteen productions to win a standing ovation.

Although "Hello Out There" did not win any awards, it captured the fancy of the critics. Don Bell of the Gazette had this to say:

"Macdonald College's presentation of the William Saroyan play, "Hello Out There", was probably the best of the three final productions Saturday afternoon. The play about a vagabond waiting to be hung on a trumped-up rape charge was well directed and acted. Clive Edwards as the vagabond and Nancy Bernstein as the young girl were effective in their roles."

Anne Beatts of the Montreal Star also praised the play:

"They presented "Hello Out There" by William Saroyan, using a very talented young negro actor, Clive Edwards, as the young man in prison ...His performance was particularly memorable for its depth and pathos, but all members of the cast were adept in their roles..."

Credit is due to the director John Whitman who has been on the job for the last five months moulding the play into a beautiful and often original interpretation. The Mob which entered towards the end of the play included Gordon Harris, Barrie Carmichael, Albert Ribbink and Henry Nesvadba. At this point, I had one of my many opportunities to admire the choreography, which with the background sound-effects of bongo (Carl Augustin) and flute (Carol Vankleek) leant a gripping and poetic touch to the play.

The critics have praised Clive Edwards and Nancy Bernstein for their magnificent performances, but we cannot forget Gene Pommier and Donna Simms. As you can remember, Gene won the award for the Best Supporting Actor in his convincing portrayal of the Convict in "The Bishop's Candlesticks". As the tough Husband in "Hello Out There" he injected the required amount of emotion and conviction into his part.

Donna Simms acted marvelously. Playing the part of a tramp, she built realism and depth into the production --aspects in female characterization so lacking in many amateur theatricals today.

At last the Macdonald Drama Club is moving in the right direction. "Hello Out There" was so well acclaimed that our club will be presenting a big festival during the second week of March. "The Love of Don Perlimplin" by Federico Garcia Lorca, Tennessee Williams' "This Property is Condemned" and the now widely talked about "Hello Out There" by William Saroyan, will all be featured on a gigantic three-night festival, all plays running each night.

Manners By Truk

Yellow busses bringing hell,
Shall start the story I've to tell.
Of certain people who attend our college
And the mess they make in their search for knowledge.

Commuters is their name.
And already they have fame
For messing up our Coffee Shop
And high pitched chattering they can never stop.

Is my toast ready? - Do hurry up!
And change my coffee to a nicer cup!
Barge in front - Counting their money,
They're so damn rude - it really isn't funny.

And what about the Coffee Shop Staff?
Do you think this behavior makes them laugh -
For God's sake be civil and tidy too -
And must you leave a mess when you're passing through.

There Are Dangers In Being A Scientist

by Dave Spenser

Education does make a difference. If a man were trained in the scientific discipline and did no work in other fields he would be like the keen photographer who misses much of a film because he became engrossed in the technique of the cameraman. We, as students, must acknowledge different points of view.

Many of the miracles of the Bible can be explained in scientific terms based on natural causes, but their miracle character comes from timing which the one-track minded scientist might claim to be coincidence. The Christian sees God acting through nature. The two viewpoints are complementary one does not exclude the other.

The Scientific Method is not always appropriate - still less is it always legitimate, as the proofs or experiments after change as new data. There existed the danger that when a scientific proof is found it is the whole answer and no other description can have truth to it. This page can be described in terms of its individual letters, spaces, etc., but if that were all the meaning that came from it, there would be little purpose in reading it. To say that it is a statement of science and faith would be more to the point.

In the past there was the tendency to allow God to be a "gap filler" where science failed.

In the theories of the origin of the universe, God is supposed to have put the breath of life into them. As the process is discovered, God seems to be losing more ground. Science will not lead to God, but in the final analysis it will not exclude Him. The Christian view of God is not that He is the missing inventor who constructed everything - God is immanent in the Universe, He is greater - he is the Sustainer of the whole Universe. "He's got the whole world in His hand"; if that hand were removed, the scientist would have nothing to study.

Girls In Brittain Hall

The doors of Brittain Hall were flung open (and kept ajar!) Sunday as the female population of Macdonald College were permitted to roam through the residence and visit the fellows in their rooms.

We were impressed by the neatness of the rooms. I guess it is natural to assume that the Brittain Hall residents always keep their rooms in top condition -- at least we were assured by some "in-mates" that they were completely unaware of this "Surprise Attack" in advance and so it was stressed that we had found the rooms in their natural state.

My visit to the Men's Residence was enhanced by the celebrations of two birthdays. At the first party we were served coffee (very formal affair - silver service and all) and morsels and titbits (cake and chocolate chip cookies) which, I was led to understand, the guys baked themselves. That angel cake was good so no doubt these fellows will come out on top in the marble cake baking competition for the Royal. At the second party, amid the melodious strains of "Happy Birthday", we were served orangeade and ginger ale. Funniest durned thing - I never tasted soft drinks with so much "kick" in them before. These boys also displayed their ability to bake as they served us a beautifully decorated cake.

Later we were interviewed by the roving radio commentator, Bill Rector. Finally we made a complete tour of the residence which took us from the old coffee shop area to Henry Shands's collection of white mice; from Doug Sargeants' penthouse suite to the usually forbidden "West Indian Highway".

Nice going, guys! You were terrific hosts.

Mac Places Third In Tournament

Last Thursday morning saw a party of twelve basketball players, a coach and a manager hop aboard a west bound train for a week-end of fun and sports. The destination was Guelph and the event was the annual Stewart League tournament. The colleges participating in this Stewart League are McMaster, Guelph University, Carleton, and Macdonald College.

After a long day on the train the bright lights of Guelph beamed a welcome to the weary travellers. A good meal proved to be a good energizer and all the high spirits were combined to make up a hearty cheer to be used at a future banquet.

Friday morning came too soon for many and the first game was scheduled for 9:30. Macdonald met Guelph first and Carleton locked horns with McMaster. Guelph University had a very slow start and Mac soon had a considerable lead. Guelph seemed to wake up later in the game and began to pace the Mac girls, but they held the lead and the final score was 35-28.

Macdonald had won one game, but defeat was soon to follow when they clashed with McMaster Friday evening. The girls put forth a valiant effort, but McMaster was too good. They seemed to outshoot and amply outmaneuver the Mac girls and the final score was 33-17.

Saturday morning brought an exciting game for the first half, but then energy seemed to drain away and the Carleton score kept mounting higher. Mac met another defeat. The final results of the tournament were: McMaster first, winning the trophy, Carleton second, Macdonald third and Guelph fourth.

After the last games all the teams had a very enjoyable banquet at which the trophy was presented and the various teams sang their newly composed songs or cheers.

A fatigued group of basketball players got on the train Saturday afternoon, but a lively sing-song with the Carleton girls picked up the spirits and at the end of the week-end I am sure it could be said a great time was had by all!

Thoughts On Women!

Men want a woman to be both sexy and ladylike; women want a man at once rough and tender. Isn't it wonderful when both imagine themselves satisfied?

Ours is not the only story -- just the most interesting story.

Men enjoy being thought of as hunters, but are generally too lazy to hunt. Women, on the other hand, love to hunt, but would rather nobody knew it.

There is no such thing as an innocent flirtation ... only one which doesn't quite make it.

Women are invariably at their most beautiful when with men they care nothing about.

Women completely plot the course of every love affair, and are completely wrong.

Love is to a man an embarrassment, even the word; it is to women an excuse for existence, especially the word.

All women are basically in competition with each other for a handful of eligible men.

Women vie with men for lots of jobs that neither men nor women want.

Laugh and the world laughs with you; cry and some man will comfort you.

Why be so surprised when nice girls get into trouble? Those who aren't nice know better.

Nothing brings out the gallantry in a man like his daughter's girl friends.

It is in the nature of some women to wait for the man who wants them; of others to go after the many they want. It's important for every woman to decide which type she is.

Miss Stewart Entertains

On Tuesday evening the Senior girls (Home Ecs and Aggies) enjoyed a delicious buffet supper at the home of Miss Stewart. The girls were pleasantly surprised to see the efficient lady-in-white behind the counter turn into an amiable hostess.

Miss Heidel served spicy shrimp gumbo from a gleaming chafing dish. Tiny cocktail sausages, assorted salads, and hot rolls were also served. Cheese and crackers, accompanied by wonderful home brewed coffee completed the meal.

Miss Stewart has recently moved into a new apartment. Adding a charming touch to this informal evening were bowls of crocus.

Thank you, Miss Stewart.

Aggies Edged 68 - 60 In Hoop Classic

SACKVILLE, N.B. - Macdonald College Aggies returned from Mount Allison with a defeat but the trip was in everyway a success. Aggies put on a very good exhibition only losing by 68-60.

The basketball squad proved they were better than the Mount "A" team by the control of Doug Boyd, Winston Ingalls, Dan Ring and the play making of Don Badger and Peter Marshall.

First half saw the Aggies down by a score of 35-33. Second half being no different but the fouling out of Don Badger and Pete Marshall all slowed the team down considerably and the ball rolling around the rim and out gave Mount "A" the edge.

The Carnival was put on a high standard by the Mount "A"'s win and the competition being keen with the see-sawing score and the sportsmanship of both teams helped in the success.

The big guns for the winners were Keith Wornell and Dale Frost with 21 and 16 points respectively and for the Aggies with every player hitting the score sheet were Al Armitage and Doug Boyd with 14 and 9 points respectively.

Congratulations goes to Al Armitage for his Most Valuable Players award presented to him without a kiss by the Queen of the Carnival.

The Macdonald College team takes this opportunity to thank each and everyone who contributed to make the trip possible and a success. It is hoped that a trip like this can be an annual event in the future.

Spencer Dunn Stars In Mount "A" Puck Match

The Mac hockey team played a steady game at Mount "A" as they lost by a score of 5 to 2. Mac broke into an early lead when Mike deVillemure drew out the Mount "A" goaler and flipped the puck past him. The mounties came back moments later to even the score.

The second period saw the Mount "A" squad strike early but the Aggies came flying back as Bob Grant cheated the Mount "A" net minder.

The score remained tied until the nine minute mark of the third period when the Mount "A" team broke through which proved to be the winning goal. This proved the turning point of the game. The long train trip began to tell and the Mounties tallied for two more goals.

"Spence" in action

Spencer Dunn was picked as one of the stars of the game as he booted out many almost sure goals. At the end of the game he was presented with a trophy for his fine efforts.

The boys put on a very fine display of hockey and with a few breaks the score could have very easily been the other way as the boys hit the post on numerous occasions. If the boys were to meet this team again they would probably bring home a victory.

Aggies Love Their "Kissing Cousins"

Mac Upsets Indians 5 - 3

Well, maybe Mac can't win all their hockey games with opposition like Ottawa U., Carleton, Sir George, and Kingston but they can sure handle those McGill Indians. After dropping four games in a row (three in the Ottawa St. Lawrence and one to Mount Allison) the Aggies got back on a winning note Tuesday evening with an easy 5-3 verdict over the redshirted fellows from Montreal. The game was never in doubt from the opening face-off and the score doesn't really indicate the superiority that Mac had throughout most of the encounter. The Aggies outshot McGill 31-24 even though they picked up seven of the eleven penalties, one of them a double minor.

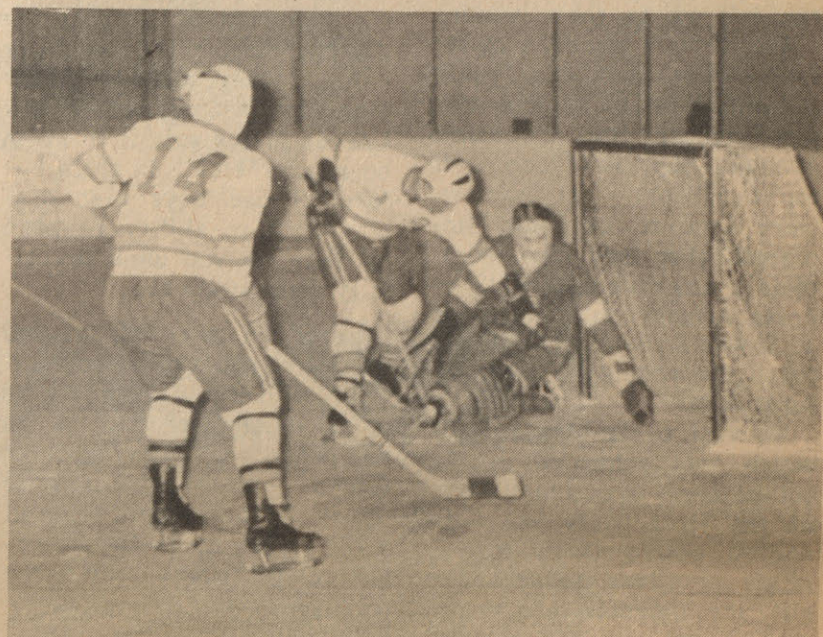

Mac completely dominated the first period, allowing the Indians only five shots on net. The only goal was scored on a tip in by "Skeeter" Davis on a pass from Bob Grant, who played his usual heads-up hard-hitting game. Four Aggies, Trivers, Manson, Grant and Nordell missed excellent scoring opportunities when they failed to deflect the puck into the open net; but such are the breaks in a hockey game. In the dying minutes of the period Spencer Dunn pulled off a beautiful save to keep the Red and White squad off the score-sheet.

PICTURE PLAY

The second period saw some defensive blunders on the part of a few Mac forwards which resulted in McGill's lone goal of the period by McKinnon at 10:04. Prior to this however, the Aggies had built up a 3-0 lead on goals by Colin Sharp (in his first game with the Varsity squad) and Ron Trivers. Sharps goal was set up by Bob Grant at his own blue line where he passed ahead to Inson who relayed the puck to Trivers. Ron whipped the puck to the front of the net and Sharp neatly flicked it in. Trivers' goal was the beauty of the evening when he picked the disc up in his own end, skated the full length of the ice along the boards, and then cut in front of the McGill net and neatly fired it home.

In the final period the clubs each scored two goals; McGill's final one coming with just over a minute left in the game. Doug McEwen scored first at 2:32 on a pass from Mike deVillemure to make the score 4-1 in favour of the boys in Green and Gold (and white). A few minutes later McKinnon should be good enough for second place behind the undefeated cadets from St. Jean. The boys have four games remaining in the O.S.L. and they finish their home stand this week-end against Loyola -- tonight and R.M.C. tomorrow afternoon. The Aggies still have a slim chance of grabbing scored his second of the night to cut the score in half. The Aggies came right back to salt the game away at 7:32 when Mike deVillemure banged one home on passes from Doug McEwen and Alex Manson.

The game ended the Inter-City League schedule for Mac giving them a three win - two loss - one tie record which the last playoff berth if they win their remaining games. As every game is now "do - or - die" Mac will be going all out for a big win tonight. Let's get out and give them our support this weekend (it'll be the last time you'll be able to see them play) and make up for the poor showing at Tuesdays game (an estimated 60 fans).
